

Dear Jack,

I hope this email finds you well.

I wish to thank you profoundly for giving me the opportunity to intern with Gray Panthers this summer in New York. I deeply appreciate your invaluable guidance, advice, support, and friendship. It was an extraordinary, invaluable, and memorable experience, with any stress compensated for by fun and abounding good humour. I have learnt much from you and the dedicated team, have immensely enjoyed and am honoured being a member of Gray Panthers. I do hope I was able to contribute positively towards our continuing efforts in combating ageism globally.

Time permitting during my senior year at college, I hope to be able to continue assisting Gray Panthers in some of the projects we have been working on this summer, and the gala fundraising event for next year. Of course, I shall continue to advocate vigorously for Gray Panthers' global endeavours in the future.

On the eve of Rosh Hashanah 5779, my family and I send you and your family, and all our Jewish friends at Gray Panthers, our fondest wishes for a Shana Tova and Gmar Chatima Tova. I do hope the coming New Year will be filled with much good health, happiness, peace, and great success for Gray Panthers.

I look forward to being in touch and seeing you when I visit New York in the future.

With warmest regards and heartfelt wishes to you and everyone at Gray Panthers,

Rachella
